SUNDAY SHOOTING

Follows Quarrel Over Craps Started on the Sandbar

Yesterday afternoon a party of colored sports went over on the sandbar to play ball, and after tiring of that game took up craps.

Among the players were Frank Coleman and Walter Lewis, who finally disagreed over a point and the usual fight followed, Lewis getting the best of Coleman.

The two men were parted and Lewis brought to this side of the river in a skiff, Coleman following on the ferryboat.

Shortly after 7 last evening the two men met in Market street near the colored restaurant, and thinking Lewis was about to renew the fight Coleman pulled his gun and fired five shots, Lewis being struck once in the leg above the knee and once in the foot.

Officers Dryden and Ryan arrested Coleman, who was at once taken before Judge Whitaker, who held him in $300 bail until his examining trial tomorrow.

Coleman came here from Fleming county, being for some time in the employ of Congressman James N. Kehoe.

Lewis is a son of William Lewis, a tennister for William Davis, the coal dealer. Several years ago he shot and killed Charley Warner at a dance on Hord's Hill, and bears an ugly reputation generally.

John Minogue died Thursday at his home at Covington, aged 78. The funeral occurred yesterday and the remains sent to Carlisle for interment.

John I. Ward, Vice-President of the Farmers' National Bank, died at his home near Augusta Thursday of consumption. About a year ago he went to New Mexico for his health, and returned a few months since, only slightly benefited. He was about 60 years of age, and one of the most prosperous farmers in Bracken county. A widow and one son survive him.

Republican Conventions.

HON. S. J. PUGH DECLINES

To Make the Race For Congress For the Ninth District

Convention Called to Meet Here Next Saturday to Name a Candidate

The Republican Committee of the Ninth Congressional District met at the Central Hotel in Maysville, Ky., at 11 a. m., October 1st, 1904.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman J. B. Bennett, who stated that the object of the meeting was for the purpose of hearing the Hon. Samuel J. Pugh.

Judge Pugh, being called before the Committee, presented the following card, declining the nomination tendered him at Cynthiana, viz.:

VANCOBURG, KY., Oct. 1st, 1904.

To the Republicans of the Ninth Congressional District: At the Convention held September 15th, 1904, at Cynthiana, I was declared the Congressional nominee for our party in this District. I was not present and had at no time solicited such action. I had not in the least anticipated that my name would be used on that occasion in any character of contest, and did not even learn of the contest in time to prevent it, although I promptly endeavored to get word there by wire to have my name withdrawn, and supposed it had been withdrawn until I got a message more than two hours after the Convention had adjourned apprising me of the action taken.

To no person had I ever said that I would accept the nomination, even if tendered by acclamation. But it is due to my friends who, in good faith, brought about the result in the hope of my making the race, that I should say that if I had been a candidate, or had the Convention, by a unanimous vote, ratified the action of the majority, I should deem it my duty and be in honor bound to accept. The objection to the will of the majority placed us at a disadvantage beyond the power of those who occasioned it to afford an adequate remedy.

In saying this, however, I am not unmindful of the fact that without a single exception, so far as I know, those who then voted for another candidate have since assured me of their most cordial support. Private assurances, unfortunately, cannot always negative or remove the effect of public acts and utterances.

The District is normally Democratic, and our candidate should not be hindered and embarrassed in his canvass by having to make defensive explanations as to his right to represent the party in the race.

Four times before you have honored me with the nomination. Three times in succession we won the fight, and it seems to be the general belief of the Republicans, as well as many Democrats, that our loss of the fourth was due to the operation of an extremely partisan and unfair election law which has since been amended. In the first race I was called upon to face a late Democratic victory in the District of almost 3,000 majority. I am now invited, in the manner indicated, to go forth to battle against a late majority of almost 2,500. Under such circumstances your candidate should not be handicapped by even a pretense that his nomination has not received the entire endorsement of his party in Convention. As I sought to commit no friend to my support, I have no one to blame for favoring another. I had no right to expect the nomination, and never thought of its coming to me in such a way.

Due deference to the wishes of my friends has forbidden that I act precipitately in this matter. All persons connected therewith have seemed to use every reasonable endeavor to make good the nomination which was within the power of the Convention alone to perfect.

For the reasons stated, and for other considerations, not of a personal nature, and explained to the Committee, I respectfully decline the nomination. I believe the District can be redeemed at the coming election. It must be done. It has been said by some that I should have contested in Congress the result of the election here in 1900. I believed then, and still believe, that the voters of Kentucky are generally fair minded and just; that they are the proper persons to remedy such wrongs, and that the time is not far away when they will assert at the polls that innate sense of justice which demands a free ballot and a fair count.

To those of whatever political faith who have so kindly assured me of their intention to support me if I accepted the nomination, and to those whose unfaltering loyalty has encouraged and aided me in former political struggles, I tender the homage of a heart full of gratitude. Whoever our nominee may be, let us work together like men for the triumph of the principles of our party at the polls, thereby contributing to the continuance of the welfare of our common country. Very respectfully,
SAMUEL J. PUGH.

Upon motion of W. D. Cochran, proxy of Robertson, seconded by John Kobs of Boyd, it was ordered that Mass Conventions be held in the various counties of the Ninth District on Friday, October 7th, 1904, at 1 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of selecting Delegates to attend a Convention to be held at Maysville, Ky., on Saturday, October 8th, 1904, at 11 a. m., to nominate a candidate for Congress to be voted for at the election November 8th, 1904.

On motion meeting adjourned.

J. B. BENNETT, Chairman.

John D. Littlejohn, Secretary.

REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

To the Chairmen of the Various Counties of the Ninth Congressional District: Pursuant to the order of the District Committee, you are hereby respectfully requested to cause the Republicans of the various counties of said District to meet in mass Convention at their respective county seats Friday, October 7th, 1904, at 1 p. m., for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend a Convention to be held at Maysville, Ky., on Saturday, October 8th, 1904, at 11 a. m., for the purpose of nominating a Republican candidate for Congress for the Ninth Congressional District.

The basis of representation shall be the same as governed the Cynthiana Convention.

By order of the Committee. J. D. BENNETT, Chairman.
John D. Littlejohn, Secretary.

FREETRADE is so discredited that even some of the old Bourbon Democratic Congressmen themselves blush for it; but at heart they worship their idol just as devoutly, although less openly.

DEMOCRATS, if placed in power, might not declare openly for Free-trade, but their Tariff legislation would lead directly toward Free-trade. Nearly every Democratic member of the House today is a Freetrader.

DR. H. L. TOBIN, Physician at the Frankfort Penitentiary, has made a statement, detailing his connection with Acting Governor THORNE in regard to the pardon of CLEM BUCHTER the Louisville murderer. Dr. Tobin says Mr. THORNE asked him several questions about BUCHTER's physical condition, and finally asked if he would make a statement in writing to the effect that BUCHTER was physically and mentally impaired. Upon Dr. Tobin declining to do so, he says, Mr. THORNE remarked, "Well, I intend to pardon him, and I don't care a damn what they say about it."

THE LEDGER commends the course of the Hon. SAM. J. PUGH in declining the Congressional nomination tendered him by the Postmasters and Under-the-Civil-Service Revenue officers of the Democratic counties of the Ninth District, in Convention assembled at Cynthiana. The action of Mr. Pugh was due no less to himself than to the great majority of his party, who have grown tired of the insolent domination of a few gentlemen who have been delegated to sell postage stamps and sample whisky at distilleries. By his refusal to accept a nomination made under such circumstances, and the flat refusal of Delegates from strong Republican counties to vote it unanimous, Mr. Pugh has strengthened himself with that portion of his party that has the power to render him substantial service should he offer for place in the future.

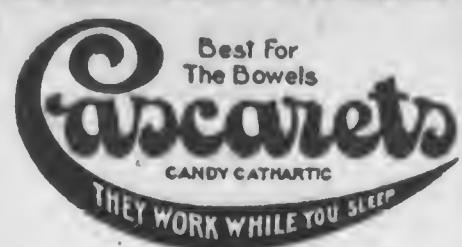

COLONEL JOHN D. LITTLEJOHN was Secretary of the recent Congressional Convention that nominated Mr. Pugh at Cynthiana; he is also Editor of The Grayson Tribune, printed in the strong Republican county of Carter; and here's what he has to say of the Federal office-holders who dominated the Cynthiana Convention—

"They seem to be of the same mind at all times, and by their persistent activity in Conventions have become obnoxious to a large majority of Republicans of this Commonwealth. The party is fast going to the demerit bowwows because of this fact. It is almost impossible to get the voters of our party to take any interest in party affairs because of it. They say, 'Oh, it's no use for me to fool my time away in Conventions, the Federal officers have got it all fixed up.' The attitude at Cynthiana was most lovely. All counties casting Republican majorities, except Lewis, voted to free themselves of the Federal incubus, not so much to defeat Judge Pugh, as we have said before, but as a rebuke to this crowd that is driving the party hell bent in Kentucky and that has made the Ninth District and Kentucky Democratic. They do not care a pecker's damn for the success of the party; all they want is for the nomination to go to some fellow who will indorse them for retention in office."

More power to ye, Bro. LITTLEJOHN; it's time the Republicans of the Ninth District were making a move to save the party from its friends its enemies.

REGULAR KILLING

Mr. L. T. Anderson, Jr., Wins Twenty-three Fair Premiums

A success almost unequalled for a show of harness horses has been attained this season by L. T. Anderson, Jr., of Point View Stock Farm, near this city.

He was in Paris a few days ago to place with Shropshire Bros. the high school harness mare Miss Graceful. He exhibited two harness mares at Ripley, Manchester, West Union, O., and Vanceburg, Germantown, Florence, Mt. Olivet and Cynthiana, Ky. Fairs, and won twenty-three first premiums.

At Germantown Mr. Anderson won five first premiums in one day with these two mares. Miss Graceful, the largest winner, was sired by Colonel Kipp and out of a mare by Idol. She is a fine show mare, and her owner has refused to lead a fancy price for her.

At Cynthiana she won second premium, the net going to Dr. Cann's mare which has won fifty-five out of 107 contests in this and other fairs.

ANOTHER LIE NAILED

A Quotation From President's Book Shows His True Feeling.

Numerous attempts are being made by unscrupulous politicians in misquoting and misrepresenting President Roosevelt's sayings and writings to injure him in the estimation of the people of this country. The claim, for example, that he ever referred to the farmers as the basest of mankind is a pure lie made out of whole cloth. People in every walk of life will be glad to read the following quotation from the president's volume, "Fellow Feeling as a Political Factor," published over four years ago:

"Nevertheless the fact remains that the only true solution of our political and social problems lies in cultivating everywhere the spirit of brotherhood, of fellow feeling and understanding between man and man and the willingness to treat a man as a man which are the essential factors in American democracy as we still see it in the country districts.

"The chief factor in producing such sympathy is simply association on a plane of equality and for a common object. Any healthy minded American is bound to think well of his fellow Americans if he only gets to know them. The trouble is that he does not know them. If the banker and the farmer never meet or meet only in the most perfunctory business way, if the banking is not done by men whom the farmer knows as his friends and associates, a spirit of mistrust is almost sure to spring up. If the merchant or the manufacturer, the lawyer or the clerk never meets the mechanic or the handcraftsman save on rare occasions, when the meeting may be of a hostile kind, each side feels that the other is alien and naturally antagonistic. But if any one individual of any group were to be thrown into natural association with another group the difficulties would be found to disappear so far as he is concerned. Very possibly he would become the ardent champion of the other group.

"Perhaps I may be pardoned for quoting my own experience as an instance in point. Outside of college boys and politicians my first intimate associates were ranchmen, cow punchers and game hunters, and I speedily became convinced that there were no other men in the country who were their equals. Then I was thrown with farmers, and I made up my mind that it was the farmer upon whom the foundations of the commonwealth really rested; that the farmer was the archetypal good American. Then I saw a good deal of railroad men, and after quite an intimate acquaintance with them I grew to feel that, especially in their higher ranks, they typified the very qualities of courage, self-reliance, self command, hardihood, capacity for work, power of initiative and power of obedience which we like most to associate with the American name. Then I happened to have dealings with certain carpenters' unions and grew to have a great respect for the carpenter, for the mechanic type. By this time it dawned upon me that they were all pretty good fellows and that my championship of each set in succession above all other sets had sprung largely from the fact that I was very familiar with the set championed and less familiar with the remainder. In other words, I had grown into sympathy with, into understanding of, group after group, with the effect that I invariably found that they and I had common purposes and a common standpoint. We differed among ourselves or agreed among ourselves not because we had different occupations, but because of our ways of looking at life."

ACCEPTS THE CHALLENGE.

President in His Letter Speaks For Himself and Party.

[From the New York Globe, Rep.] He speaks for himself and party, and there is neither uncertainty nor timidity nor a shadow of evasion in a single sentence of his letter. "A party fit to govern," he says, "must have convictions," and he leaves no opportunity for any one to deny that he has both convictions and the courage to maintain them. Whether men agree with him or not they cannot fail to grasp his meaning and cannot accuse him of shuffling or equivocation.

It is not in any sense a defensive document, but rather a defiant acceptance of the Democratic challenge to show why a change is not desirable. Every point in the Democratic indictment is met, and many points not mentioned publicly in that indictment are stated and answered. The Panama canal policy, the coal strike settlement, the Northern Securities suit, the pension order, are all treated in the same frank and fearless fashion, though the Democrats have either not ventured to mention them at all or have expressed their disapproval in veiled and guarded terms.

Those advocates of Judge Parker who have been hesitating him to utter a "clarion note" will find that much desired thing in the president's letter, for it sounds through every part of it.

Some of His Funeral.

[From the New York Sun.]

Undoubtedly Mr. Bryan enjoys the situation thoroughly. It is none of his funeral. He can continue to damn the Democratic ticket and platform with faint praise. He will have the satisfaction of knowing that every speech of his will make goose flesh in Exopus and Wolfert's Roost and the Hoffman House. He hopes to do some reorganization himself after this cruel war is over.

Talk about Tom Taggart's smile! That is merely mechanical and professional. Brer Bryan's joy lies deeper. He must perspire happiness. He has the enemy just where he wants them.

A Prohibition Incident.

[By Rev. Dr. J. F. Seaman of New York.] A very talented and morally clean lawyer in central New York was running for the state senate. The Prohibitionists put him on their ticket. He was elected mainly by Republican votes. Two years after he was up for attorney general and would have been elected but for Prohibition state leaders "playing into Democratic hands." Is that working as you pray? That beaten candidate is now a highly respected judge of a United States court.

Must Stand Square.

[President's Addresses and State Papers.] It will be a bad thing for the nation if ever we grow as a nation to submit to the suppression of efficiency and morality. If we ever grow to accept the belief that we are to have two camps, in one of which will be grouped the men who mean well, but who don't do things, and in the other the men who do things, but who do not mean well.

It is asserted by a sculptor that the human foot is becoming smaller. The masculine foot of twenty centuries ago was about twelve inches long. The average man's foot of today is easily fitted with a No. 8 1/2 shoe, which is not above ten inches and seven-sixteenths in length.

The stage of the river at Cincinnati Friday last was the lowest since 1887, when the gauge stood at the 3.3 foot stage. There is a prospect that the water will go even lower than this mark, because the records show that October is the driest month of the year.

The Question?

Is, are you willing to let your hair continue to fall out and you eventually become bald? Or would you, if you knew how, stop it from falling? The safest and best way to stop your hair from falling is to use Picard's Capi-Vita Hair Tonic, a positive cure for dandruff, the cause of falling hair.
